

CACHAÇA
Old Fisherman

Old Fisherman cachaca is a historic brand of cachaca from Rio Grande do Sul, produced in the state and purchased by the renowned Weber Haus in 2014. It is recognized as one of the brands that inspired artisanal producers in the region, combining tradition with alembic production.

Manufacturer: Produced by Weber Haus in Ivoti/RS, but originating from Fazenda Maribo, in Osório/RS.

The Name: Old Fisherman is a tribute to the fishermen of Lagoa da Pinguela, located next to Fazenda Maribo, where they earn their livelihood.

Types and Aging:

- Old Fisherman Gold: Aged 1 year in American Oak Barrel and Brazilian barrel Amburana, with woody notes and hints of vanilla.
- Old Fisherman Silver : White version, soft and smooth, ideal for caipirinhas.
- Extra Premium 5 Years: Aged for 5 years in American oak barrels and finished in Brazilian Amburana wood, this cachaca delivers elegant notes of honey and chestnuts.

Consumption: Old Fisherman Gold cachaca can be enjoyed neat, slightly chilled, or in cocktails, such as a reinterpretation of the Old Fashioned.

Recognition: Old Fisherman Weber Haus brand has received prestigious medals, such as the Grand Gold Medal at the Brussels World Competition and the Gold Medal at the Brazilian Wine and Spirits Competition.
